MBC's NEW INCREASED CIRCULATION

Reach 10,000 Readers Each Month

Starting with the January 1995 issue, MBC will be mailed to all ASCB members as a benefit of membership, thus increasing MBC's circulation to 10,000 each month.

Papers are currently being considered for the fourth MBC Paper of the Year Award, the winner of which will be featured at the ASCB Annual Meeting in Washington D.C., December 9-13, 1995.

Submit papers to: MBC Managing Editor, The American Society for Cell Biology, 9650 Rockville Pike, Bethesda, MD 20814-3992. Phone: (301) 530-7153; Fax: (301) 571-8304.
New in the leading research journal in biophysics:

- Expanded circulation. Articles published here will now reach a combined 6,000 members and subscribers.
- Expanded size. With increased submissions, the Biophysical Journal is now publishing 25% more pages a year. More biophysics, published more quickly.
- Broader and more comprehensive coverage of cutting edge research in biophysics. “New and Notable” section—incisive commentaries on particularly significant work published in the journal.
- More review articles to help with research and teaching projects.
- Articles and reviews on educational issues in biophysics.
- News about employment opportunities, meetings, and conferences.
- Internet server, giving readers the opportunity to explore new electronic methods for information dissemination, storage, retrieval, and manipulation.

Topics covered in a recent issue include:

- Membranes and Bilayers
- Channels and Receptors
- Proteins and Biopolymers
- Muscle and Contractility
- Biophysical Techniques
- Computational and Theoretical
- Cell Biophysics
- Photobiophysics
- Supramolecular Assemblies
- Electrophysiology
- Nucleic Acids
- Transport and Bioenergetics
